

OFFICE MARKET OVERVIEW

ERIC SOLEM, Managing Principal, President

Boston's office market is weakening, with negative net absorption and vacancy rates exceeding 10.5% for the first time in 10 years. Nearly 700,000 SF of space has returned to the market, and new supply has added almost 2 million SF this year. Leasing activity has declined, and sublease space has reached a record high of almost 13 million SF. Despite this, Boston's lab office ecosystem and education/medical sectors remain strong. Investment in the market is at its lowest since 2011. Asking rents are stagnant, while effective rents have declined due to concessions. The development pipeline includes 18.6 million SF of office space, but demand is expected to weaken further.
