Lindsay Mingee specializes in private client and corporate real estate investment services across office, medical, industrial, retail, and mixed-use properties. As a trusted advisor to institutional investors and Fortune 500 companies throughout Southern California and beyond, she provides clients with strategic, data-driven guidance designed to maximize portfolio performance, mitigate risk, and enhance long-term value.

Her extensive advisory experience spans REITs, family offices, and private investors, with a proven track record of facilitating over $816 million in real estate transactions. Lindsay has represented a diverse range of clients—including Bank of America, Ben Bridge, Boyd Watterson, Brookfield Properties, BH Properties, California Baptist University, JPMorgan Chase, Link Logistics (Blackstone), New York Life, Provident Capital Group, Renken Companies, Saban Capital Group, San Bernardino County Employees Retirement Association, and United Healthcare—as well as numerous government and institutional entities.

In her current role, Lindsay oversees brokerage services for more than 524,650 square feet of commercial real estate listings. She has built and managed high-performing brokerage teams and developed internal playbooks for prospecting, CRM utilization, and client reporting—initiatives that have significantly improved operational efficiency and client service delivery.

Lindsay is also a skilled coach and mentor to brokers and executives, having helped clients and teams achieve remarkable performance improvements, including sales growth exceeding 700%. Her leadership philosophy centers on collaboration, accountability, and delivering measurable results that empower clients to make informed, strategic investment decisions.
