

MULTIFAMILY MARKET OVERVIEW

STONE ALEXANDER, CPA, Broker

Raleigh-Durham is currently experiencing a steady increase in demand for multifamily product. A myriad of reasons drives this appetite, among them being the overall attractiveness of the state of North Carolina. With home prices setting records daily, rentable housing continues to be a hot commodity. From far and wide, developers flock to this area to compete for suitable sites to supply quality options. More competition translates to compressed capitalization rates, shorter due diligence periods, and enhanced amenities. Stabilized assets are trading at unprecedented figures without signs of slowing down anytime soon.
